The Cork Historical and Archaeological Society (IE-148166, incorporated 1989) was founded in 1891, for the collection, preservation and diffusion of all available information regarding the past of the City and County of Cork, and South of Ireland generally. This archive of all content of JCHAS (from 1892 up to ten years preceding current publication) continues the original aims of the founders in 1891. attached him to the Political Department, with which he remained connected for more than twenty years, and in which he rose to the highest posts.

He was for more than eight years Governor-General's Agent for the States of Central India. His success in this department led to his being selected by Lord Mayo as the officer best fitted to prepare the State of Mysore for restoration to native rule. While engaged in this work he was appointed by Lord Northbrook President of a Commission for inquiring into the alleged mal-administration of Malhar Rao, Gaekwar of Baroda. His conduct of the inquiry was so able and impartial that he was appointed one of the judges at the subsequent trial of the Gaekwar on the charge of having attempted to poison Colonel Phayre, the Resident; and, after a sentence of deposition had been passed against that Prince, he was appointed Special Commissioner for carrying it into effect and reorganising the administration of the State. This work having been accomplished, he was appointed Resident of Hyderabad—the most important appointment in the political service of India. Here he represented the British Government for five years.

Sir Richard Meade retired in 1881, after forty-three years' service, during which he paid only one brief visit to England; and, after a busy life in England, where he was an active member of many societies working for the benefit of India, he died at Hyeres, in the South of France, in 1894.
